SYDNEY TO TAKE OVER

LION EATS TAMER

Hakoah's Bobby Smith, watched by Hilton Silva, in action against Brisbane Lions last Sunday. Lions won 3-1, causing the upset of the round.

The upsets and shock results of the Philips League continued last Sunday: after a mere two rounds, only Marconi have an intact record and all 14 teams managed to get at least one point.

Sydney's forecast dominance is beginning to take shape: four of the first six places are occupied by teams from the Harbor city.

However, the week's glory belonged elsewhere. Just as the first round produced a complete Melbourne triumph, last weekend it was the turn of the two Brisbane teams, both winning their games — Lions against the 1977 champions Hakoah, in Sydney.

Amazingly, the home ground advantage so far has been more of a handicap: of the 14 matches played, only three were won by the home sides and seven by the visitors.

This week Marconi's immense strength will be put to the test against Footscray in Melbourne.

Watkiss triumph

Sydney soccer's grand old man, John Watkiss, in his 21st season in top soccer, chalked up yet another triumph last Sunday.

As player-coach of a young Sutherland team, Watkiss, ageless, led his charges to winning the 1978 Ampol Cup — the club's first major success in senior soccer.

Despite the rival attractions of three PSL matches, the final drew a crowd of about 6000 at Garside Park — only slightly less than the three Sydney PSL matches.

All of which goes to show, once again, that teams can have a healthy support in a lower division — and can draw miserably even at national level.

• Full Ampol Cup details inside.

Graham Honeyman

Brisbane:

Having weathered a double coaching crisis, the teams from Joh's own state have bounced back with a vengeance.

The Lion's share last week was formidable: the scalp of 1977 champions Hakoah who, in front of a pathetically small "crowd", really got mauled up badly.

Lions have appointed Julius Vincze as their new coach and the former Hungarian-born star player should soon repay the club's faith in him.

Brisbane City's new broom Denis Ford also seems to have turned the corner with his new charges and it wouldn't surprise if they continued to climb on the ladder.

Bertie Lutton

Canberra:

Two home games, both against Adelaide teams, resulting in two valuable draws — both achieved with a fight-back from deficit positions: this is Canberra's fine record so far.

In the two games they drew more than 12,000 spectators to their games — possibly meaning a break-through for soccer in the national capital.

On Sunday they visit St. George Stadium and manager John Warren's return may be anything but sentimental.

Once the darling of the Saints, Warren would love nothing more than leading his daredevil charges to victory in the new stadium he has never seen.

Adelaide:

Even Premier Don Dunstan couldn't deny any longer that something is wrong with Adelaide — at least on the soccer front.

Last year's two glamor teams have yet to win a match and, so far, have managed to win only two points out of the possible eight, with two draws in Canberra — having both suffered home defeats.

The PSL's boom city is experiencing some sort of a crisis and one can only hope that they will get out of their slump before their stupendously loyal fans become restive.

This week West Adelaide will have a chance to make amends at home against Olympic but Adelaide City's task in Brisbane looks much more formidable.

Ian Johnston

Melbourne

The champagne has gone sour near the Yarra: after a smashing all-up win in the first round their teams could collect only a single point last week and even that at home.

Fitzroy and Footscray, convincing winners only a week earlier, both crashed heavily, conceding seven goals between them and replying mutely.

South Melbourne, after a grand first round display, sank back to their 1977 level.

Two, South Melbourne and Footscray, will be at home this week but neither can be too confident about a win while Fitzroy visit Hakoah's Waterloo of last week, most probably meeting the hosts in a desperate mood.

Kosmina happy with Arsenal

— From Vic Migliaccio —

John Kosmina, who left Adelaide last month to join Arsenal, is, according to his father Alex Kosmina, extremely happy and doing well.

He officially signed with the club last week and is training with the first team squad and confident that he could be playing in the first team soon.

Kosmina Senior has various newspaper cuttings including the "North London News", "Australian World Cup striker John Kosmina strolled into a new world at Winty Highbury — Arsenal Manager Terry Neil said 'John is very quick and has a fair touch skill'."

West Adelaide's eighth recruit for 1978 Con Kampas arrived in Adelaide from Greece last Thursday. Kampas played for the Greek national team when on tour in 1969 at Hindmarsh Stadium against the SA State team. He is 28.

Adelaide City captain Frank Lister has every reason to be upset by a report in a Melbourne soccer publication last week which blamed him for the Footscray goal which cost City the game.

The fact is that it was Zoran Matic who allowed the defensive lapse which let John Nicolaidis in for the only score of the match.

City coach Edmund Kreft will verify the truth of the unfortunate incident.

Brian Stoddart, sent off the field during the first round PSL match against West Adelaide, was sent away to Adelaide by Canberra City coach Johnny Warren last Sunday to watch and report on the Westad v. St. George game. Stoddart will be hard put to explain any weaknesses in the Saints team who play Canberra this week.

The SASF announced last week that the Greek national team will play an Australian XI at Hindmarsh Stadium on Wednesday, June 14. While on international matters, the USSR U19 world champions will visit Adelaide late August, to play a match against the SA U19 State team. The event is sponsored and subsidised by Coca-Cola.

Amateur soccer is fast growing in SA. The winter season will kick off on April 16. This year the League will start with eight Divisions, six of which will also have reserve sides. The national amateur championship will be held in Adelaide during the Easter long weekend. Participating States are South Australia, New South Wales, Western Australia and Victoria. All games will be played at Hindmarsh Stadium.

From 22 candidates who attended the senior coaching course recently at the Myer Recreation centre, 11 reached the standard and have been awarded the ASF badge. The successful coaches were: A. Bettell, G. Campbell, A. Chadwick, J. Drake, A. Edwards, D. Howlett, P. Koulizis, B. Logan, E. Merrick, G. Milne and S. Miskelly.

A business holiday trip is coming up for John Garside, senior coach of Orange Sturt United, Sec. Div. club. John will leave for the UK in March 17. He sees this an opportune time to catch up on latest coaching methods in Europe. Bon voyage!

West Adelaide's coaching staff for 1978 is: PSL John Margaritis, third division, first team, Nick Pantelis and Peter Koullizis, reserves Chris Loullias, juniors John Krashos.

Where to listen and look for soccer news in Adelaide: Sunday, Radio 5DN from 2.05 p.m., live broadcast of the PSL match played in Adelaide, running commentary by Frank Pangallo, Pierre Vicary and John Haynes. Thursday, Tom McKain has two live shows at 4.30 p.m. in the children's program and in the news service at 6.20 p.m. on Channel 10. The one hour PSL Top Soccer can be seen at 10.30 p.m. On Radio 5AN Henry Kurczak presents soccer round-up at 6 p.m. Friday, Radio 5DN from 6 to 6.30 p.m. talk-back style program hosted by Frank Pangallo. The West Adelaide-St. George game played last Sunday will be one of the matches to be screened on March 16. The Adelaide City-St. George match at the Olympic Sport Field on Easter Sunday will also be televised.

CANBERRA

Canberra's record crowd was all the more amazing because the match was played amidst the festivities of Canberra Week when half the capital's population escapes the city. (Who is the Week for, then? — Ed.)

In last week's Canberra curtain-raiser Goulburn Workers beat the amateur Arinya 2-1. At halftime of the main match two skydivers dropped on the field from 3000 metres. The kick-off was supposed to have been performed by cartoonist Larry Pickering—but in the traffic jam, he arrived late. So he kicked off in the second half—and rather awkwardly, smashed the ball into an Adelaide City player. A day earlier Pickering was crowned as "King of Canberra" for the Week.

An old English sheepdog by the name of Barnabas is the new mascot of Canberra City. When Canberra goes north—and if they decide to take the dog—one could paraphrase the great GB Shaw play into "Barnabas and the Lion."

Both Danny Moulis (slightly injured) and Brian Stoddart (suspension served) will play for Canberra on Sunday against St. George at Barton Park. One busload of supporters will accompany the team.

Lions player after victory over Hakoah.

NEWCASTLE

A seasoned first grader at the age of 18, Newcastle KB United's Peter Tredinnick could ease coach Alan Vest's attacking worries on the left wing.

Tredinnick has been playing in the Lake Macquarie front line since he was 15 and trialled with Sydney Olympic before signing for Newcastle last week.

His first rate performance against Western Suburbs had the doubly pleasing effect of a local youngster forcing his way into the newly formed PSL side.

Tredinnick came from the prolific soccer nursery Booragul High School, a Tasman Cup winning side.

He played for the Newcastle United youth side against Eastern Suburbs Hakoah in the gala opening match at the International Sports Centre, scoring one of Newcastle's five goals.

Another newcomer to the team in the match against Western Suburbs was Mike Galpin, who has been chaffing at the bit waiting for an authenticated clearance coming through from English Southern League side Dorchester Town.

Two youngsters in the Newcastle team spent a season with Heart of Midlothian in Scotland to gain experience.

They are the versatile Neil Endacott and Lloyd Harges, both products of the famous Wallsend soccer club.

Endacott has played most of his football as a forward, but coach Alan Vest can see much potential for the youngster in the left back berth.

— Myles Hay

BRISBANE

Brisbane Lions' new goalie Nigel Lownds played with Macclesfield in the Northern Premier division—his last match having been a few days before his arrival in Australia. He had trials with Manchester City and Everton and just recently had a good offer from third division Port Vale.

Watch out for Lions' strapping Scot Allan Hughes who shocked Hakoah with a hat-trick. Hughes, who played only a few games for Lions last year, was a Derby County reserve and came to Brisbane with a solid reputation.

MELBOURNE

John Daperis wants to leave South Melbourne, having gone on collision course with manager-coach David Maclaren.

Footscray have signed two new Yugoslavs, due here soon: Igor Hazabec from Olympic Ljubljana and Stravko Lujicic, from a second division club. Both are 23 and have signed a three-year contract.

Footscray's home match this weekend will be part of a Rules-Rugby League-Soccer trifecta type promotion in a bid to increase attendances.

More upsets on the way?

— By Andrew Dettre —

It would take an exceptionally brave man to make forecasts for the third round — but, alas, our soccer is full of such heroes.

And despite the strings of upsets or at least surprise results, everybody is again giving his "certain" tips adding the customary do you want bet?

Well, let's see. West Adelaide, probably rueing the day when they allowed Kosmina to leave, should begin to recover from their initial daze and handle Olympic.

But not if they play as they did against the Saints, with their defence ripped apart.

Tommy Anderson's Olympic shows signs of life and, having held one sister club to a draw last week, will strive for a repeat performance against yet another sister outfit.

Brisbane City will be at home to their "relatives", Adelaide City — but don't count on too much brotherly love on the field.

The hosts, riding on the crest of a wave, will try to register their second win in succession while Adelaide City, after two disappointments, will desperately fight to redeem themselves.

Normally one would tip the visitors to win — but not on current form.

East's Hakoah, yanked off their pedestal, will have to re-organise drastically to halt the advance of Fitzroy.

Actually, both performed miserably last week but perhaps Hakoah's home defeat was the greater of the two disasters.

Unless Mullen and Mowbray are prepared to curb their adventurous spirit at the expense of safety, Fitzroy may also make smallgoods of their cavalier defence.

Footscray's Yugoslav community will greet the Rasic-led Marconi with mixed feelings: they would like to admire their compatriot after a good home win, not before.

But, frankly, the enigmatic Footscray's chances don't look too good.

Marconi, even in second gear, make up a formidable side where the promptings of Vieri, the grafting of Byrne and Rooney and the youthful zest and speed of the striking trio seem good enough to storm all barricades.

South Melbourne, playing their second game at home in two weeks, receive a vastly rejuvenated Newcastle and will have to be at their best behaviour to keep the points.

It seems that Dave MacLaren's magic wand works only in spasms and the rebuilt side may need more time to settle.

Newcastle, on the other hand, have decided to mix it with the old boys rather than wait for a decent maturing process; knowing Alan Vest's methods, they can only go on improving.

St. George, following their triumph in Adelaide, will return to their own stadium and will face a combative, ambitious Canberra — led by former Saints captain and coach John Warren.

If the young charges of Iliya Takac can keep their form, they should add two more points to their early tally.

But... Canberra is not a team to give in without one helluva fight and they will punish any slackness the Saints may display.

Western Suburbs, playing their third match in Sydney, will be hard pressed to keep their unbeaten record against Brisbane Lions.

West's are a tough, speedy side — but in Lions they will face a very skilled, compact unit.

If they allow Morris and Laslo the freedom of the park, they may suffer the same fate Hakoah did last Sunday at another part of Sydney.

Thanks, old pal — Brisbane Lions goalie Nigel Lownds seems to be saying as he kisses the goalpost on the referee's final whistle against Hakoah. Photo by Steve Gonda.

NEWCASTLE

Mike Galpin has proved that he will be a success this year in his first match against Wests. Galpin is a highly skilled winger, and with improved fitness will be one of the hits of the season.

Reluctantly, former Soccerroo Ray Baartz has been forced to give away his thoughts of a comeback. His attempt to get back into the game has brought some health problems, and commonsense has dictated that he should not play sport at top level.

As in Canberra, Newcastle United had to come to an agreement that they will play Saturday matches in order not to conflict with local league teams who have regularly played on Sundays. Officials have budgeted on a reasonable measure of success and are expecting to average 7000 crowds over the season. To the outsider it is obvious that at some time in the future the senior PSL club could be expected to have first choice of the dates, and if this occurred it is quite possible that Newcastle United could double present budgeted attendances.

Saintly Iberians

St. George BSC have several irons in the fire for new players — all from Spain or Portugal.

One, Isidore Acosta, 24, a Paraguayan striker, may arrive within two or three weeks.

Acosta, with years of South American experience behind him, played briefly for the Spanish first division club Rayo Vallecano last year.

This small Madrid club gained promotion to the first division last year — and are now running about fifth.

Acosta, being the third foreigner in the team, could not get a permanent work permit in Spain and has decided to accept the Saints' offer rather than return to Paraguay.

Another one is Jose Daucik, 21 — son of the former all-time great Czechoslovak international and former leading coach in Spain.

Daucik, a striker, plays for the second division club Baracaldo.

The Saints are still investigating the mystery of their colored Portuguese midfield prospect, Jose Maria Francesco.

Through some mix-up at immigration level, the documents of this 24-year-old former Mozambique player arrived in Sydney showing him to be a 16-year-old junior.

SYDNEY

Peter Van Rijn is back as the Hakoah physio — temporarily. He is helping out until Hakoah find a permanent man for the job.

The Richard Bell saga continues. Pan Hellenic are reportedly ready to let him go for about $12,000 (instead of the original $15,000) — but Hakoah manager Andrew Lederer says they are prepared to pay only about $8000 and even that if he proves his fitness after a two-week lending arrangement.

Hakoah have written off plans to bring back their colored Portuguese star Manecas because of the $15,000 transfer tag on his head.

Team manager, Andrew Lederer's company, Presto, has become Hakoah's sponsor — their third in just over a year. The annual fee involved, though not disclosed, is reported to be about $25,000. Presto's holding company, Petersville, last week announced record profits exceeding $4m.

Western Suburbs need the help and support of many clubs in their area, but the junior attitude indicates that it may not be forthcoming. Last week the players gave a heading tennis display at the busy Carlingford Court shopping centre, and then they entertained local junior teams with a special training session. But support was lacking at Dural again last Sunday and junior clubs held their own trials as usual.

"Ugly" Dave Gray kicked off for Wests against Newcastle last week. Referee David McDermott then gave him a red card to quickly terminate his participation in the game.

Richard Bell

HAKOAH'S "PROMOTION"

Hakoah's home debut last Sunday was one of the most miserable soccer affairs for years.

To start with, no match program could be seen and the entire "promotion" was limited to pop star Col Joye kicking off—but not even singing.

On a hot, summer afternoon, the kiosk "forgot" to stock icecream; the car park was closed; the loudspeaker is merely loud but inaudible.

Add to all this that the crowd (officially given as 1010) was probably 700-800, silently spreading out in the large Wentworth Park and you will agree that it was a dismal day all-round with an atmosphere of Tennessee Williams type of decay about it.

Referee: C. Bambridge. Crowd: 4000.

Simple, effective tactics and great defensive work earned Olympic a precious point in this encounter. Defending well, mainly through Markland and McIntosh, Olympic held out very well until the 60th minute when Bill Rogers headed the ball past Meier, converting a centre from Hatzimanuil. Earlier in the game South Melbourne missed two marvellous chances when Lutton and Rogers lost sight of their target. Olympic were also guilty of the same sin in the first half. Their ex-Dundee striker Laing did not appear fully fit for the fray yet he showed ample evidence of a basic skill. South Melbourne's midget winger Chris Kent was the hosts' most dangerous striker and many of the threatening attacks were spawned off his boot. However, hard as they might have tried, South Melbourne couldn't gain a clearcut upper hand in this match against a very determined opponent and failed to show the same lucidity they had displayed in Sydney one week earlier. In the end it was little surprising that they paid the penalty for their misses. Alan Ainslie, in the 78th minute, gratefully received a cross from substitute man Wilson, sold a quick dummy and volleyed home a glorious shot with his feared left foot, catching the entire South Melbourne defence on the hop. Olympic have given notice that they will not be anybody's punching bag this year and with Markland, Coton and McIntosh in their solid defence, they can even afford the luxury of keeping Richie Bell cooling his expensive heels on the sideline until he either comes to terms with the club or finds a buyer willing to fork out about $10,000 for him.

Referee: D. McDermott. Crowd: $53. Cautions: C. Eaton, Noble.

In spite of a more determined finish, Wests were a little lucky to have salvaged a point from Newcastle whose determination was very marked in the first half and well into the second. Newcastle's young wingers Mike Galpin and Peter Tredinnick made most of the first half running, with good support from Col Curran, Ken Boden and the very effective Craig Mason. Curran netted against his old club after Galpin had spanned the field with a long pass to Tredinnick on the other wing — a picture goal. Throughout the early period Bobby Noble, Peter Wilson and Warren Turnbull were hard put to contain some splendid work from Galpin, Tredinnick and Boden. Newcastle's midfield dominance continued until near the end when Peter Stone and Dave Harding came into the game at last. Wests' equaliser came from the only time that Clive Eaton loosened Bill Summerscales' grip on him, with the lead-up coming from Rod Skellern's throw and a good pass from the impressive youngster Alan Fisher. Three minutes into injury time Fisher hit the back of the net with a great header from Harding's cross, but referee McDermott had no hesitation in ruling for a very close offside. It was difficult to recall sufficient injuries to see why the game went five minutes overtime. Even more difficult was to understand how import John Vernon lasted 73 minutes as he obviously still has to find confidence and adjust to Australian conditions. Newcastle's fitness still needs to rise to PSL standards but they certainly proved that with players such as Galpin, Mason, Boden and Tredinnick they will be a very attractive side to watch.

The sky fell in on West Adelaide when, in the short space of two minutes, St. George cracked in two goals in this amazing encounter. The unexpected spell came only two minutes after West had justifiably equalised, being unjustly in arrears at half time. Such are the fortunes of football. Westad really fell for the thimble and pea trick with St. George allowing them to race and chase while they coasted along conserving their energy for the second half. The tactics were wise in the very hot conditions, but they could have backfired had Martin Coe not been in such great form. The first half provided a stark contrast in styles with Westad tearing flat out while the Saints lip-tapped the ball around in slow motion. Westad started the second stanza in similar vein to the first with no hint of any possible goal-glut from Saints. Then, with the score neatly poised at 1-1, St. George were awarded a free kick loaded with doubt and John O'Shea obliged by driving the ball into the net via a deflection. West were in tatters as Phil O'Connor accepted a rebound from a Robert O'Shea shot to race Saints to a 3-1 lead. Both sides made changes to offset the heat, but West could not provide a reserve as effective as the most impressive Peter Hensman. West coach John Margaritis has former Greek international Con Kampas to introduce for this week's game against Olympic. He may also have to give serious consideration to bringing Ulysses Kokkinos into the fray to boost the team's flagging morale. The fans will have already forgotten all those great saves of Coe's and will only recall the final disturbing scoreline.

Canberra's crowd record lasted only one week and was bettered again with their second home match in which the home team staged yet another remarkable fight-back from a heavy deficit. It was their swift interchanging of partners and clever use of the wings that finally signalled Canberra's revival. Adelaide City began well, their crisp, accurate passes hardly ever leaving the grass, stretching the Canberra defence on the wings. They looked well set for an easy win with two well taken goals. Still, the traffic wasn't all one way. First Tony Henderson headed a Gruicic corner over the empty goal then younger brother Ken missed a sitter. Gruicic himself could have scored but tried to dribble around the goalie instead of chipping him. The substitution of 18-year-old Heywood for Ken Henderson dismayed many fans — but the move paid off. Three minutes after halftime Heywood broke on the right, sent in a high cross to the far post where Byrne rose to head past Romanowicz. The equaliser arrived in the 63rd minute when Gruicic fooled everybody by lobbing a freekick from the sideline, floating into the corner. With two minutes remaining Tilsed brought off a great save from a Marwee freekick. This exciting but at times rough encounter proved to be a great entertainment for all concerned except, perhaps, Adelaide City goalie Romanowicz who really had a poor day.

Brisbane City served notice to other Philips League clubs that they will be no pushovers at Perry Park this season. This was a game for the purist with some great cut and thrust play by both sides and for 30 minutes little was done by both goalkeepers. Then Marley, City's loan acquisition, had some return for the hard effort he was putting in. He cleverly laid a back-headed pass from Echeverria down to Gaffney's foot and the little mid-fielder made no mistake. That was the only difference up to half-time. Second half started with City making all the running and inside four minutes Marley and Echeverria combined brilliantly using their heads (literally) to play one-two's through the defence and the Argentinian did the needful with the final touch. This was a goal straight out of the "Boys' Own". Six minutes later Echeverria again laid a brilliant through ball in front of Caldwell and this was Kevin's dream moment. He ran on and on then powerfully slotted City into a three-goal lead. The game wasn't over though and Footscray obviously had a fight on their hands and fight their forwards did. Their quicksilver raiding was brilliantly executed but always the finish left a little bit to be desired. On the day that was it, City finished well. Footscray didn't. A great, entertaining football match that pleased the big crowd immensely. If all PSL soccer were like this the people would flock to the game.

It may be a time-worn cliché but here it held true: Hakoah have only themselves to blame for losing this match. At half time they were one goal up, they were playing the more imaginative football and they were creating the more dangerous attacks. However, after half time they were prepared to sit on their laurels and they paid dearly for this lack of action. In the first period both sides attacked regularly, but Lions always seemed to lack imagination or variation. They would stick three players in the middle and hit hopeful balls at them. Hakoah at least had Watson jinking along the wing, though they lacked extra width by employing Silva as a midfielder rather than another winger. After half time, however, things noticeably changed. The match which had been dreadfully boring till then showed signs of life when a few Lions moves caused mild panic in the Hakoah defence. Then Geoff Morris exploded into action and made a nervous wreck of Kevin Mullen. Morris put on the pressure as he moved forward with weaving runs, inspiring fellow team mates to do the same. He set up the first goal, started the second and had a hand in the third, all of which were converted with great dash by Scottish striker Alan Hughes. After the second goal Hakoah fell apart and never looked like recovering, in fact, Lions could well have scored four, but were content to play out time at a slow pace.

Referee: R. Lorenc. Crowd: 5891. Cautions: Prskajlo, Provan.

Marconi did not play anywhere near their top form and the real reason for their massive victory was the poor showing by Fitzroy. After an even first 10 minutes it was obvious that the speed of Sharne and the overlapping prowess of Degney were going to cause problems to the Fitzroy defence. Pat Bannon started the rot when he made a grave tactical error by dropping well back to a defensive role, thus allowing Marconi to take almost complete control of mid-field for the first 45 minutes. During this time Fitzroy had absolutely no idea how to stop a team which played neat, simple, constructive soccer. Vieri showed his class throughout, and scored the opening goal with a Pele style banana kick from the edge of the penalty area. Rooney added the second just before half time when Blasby, who played all day as if his feet were nailed to the goal line, pulled a ball from under his crossbar over the line. Gary Byrne had a top class game and tormented the Fitzroy defence wherever he went. He set up the third goal, which put the nail in the Fitzroy coffin, five minutes after half time with an inch-perfect pass through to Jankovics who just picked his spot. Marconi then relaxed for 20 minutes during which time it was finally noticed that Alan Maher was on the field as he brought off two brilliant saves within a few moments of each other, one from Bozikas and the other from Tansey. Tansey also hit the post, but that was as close as Fitzroy were ever likely to get to scoring before Marconi added a fourth when Byrne capitalised upon a misunderstanding between Blasby and his two fullbacks to nip in and score an easy goal. Rale Rasic must be pleased with the way his team is playing and on this type of form, provided they keep the game simple, they must be red hot favourites for the title. Fitzroy showed no form all day, with a midfield lacking inspiration and a defence that is slow to tackle and cover.

POLAND'S POWER

It's impossible nowadays to talk about topflight soccer without reference to Poland's entertaining and highly successful national team.

After decades of quiet, rather unnoticed existence, they exploded on the scene in 1972 when they won the Olympic crown in Munich.

The following year a slightly reorganised team knocked England out of the World Cup qualifiers with a 2-0 win in Poland and then a magnificent 1-1 in London.

Even after these two warnings, Poland went to the 1974 World Cup finals largely unfancied.

But there, they took the scene with a storm. In Gdacha, Lato, Kasperczak, Zmuda, the giant stopper Gorgon and Deyna a sceptical soccer world gave Poland instant admiration and recognition.

Finally, Poland finished third — their best ever result — and with an ounce of luck, against West Germany in the semifinal, could have got even higher.

Although not without some domestic turbulences, the nucleus of that great team is still intact and will go into battle in Argentina in June.

Lubanski, now a pro in Belgium, is no longer in serious contention though manager Gmoch may recall him.

Gdacha is in France and, over the age of 30, unlikely to be seen again galloping irresistibly on the flanks.

But many others are still at their peak: Tomaszewski, Gorgon, Kasperczak, Deyna, Szarmach, Lato as well as some superbly talented newcomers.

Most critics rate West Germany, Holland and Poland as the three strongest European challengers for the World Cup in June — and history is on Poland's side.

If they could exchange their Olympic gold of 1972 for a World Cup bronze two years later, who can say they can't go a notch or two higher?

Poland's national team.

KLUB SPORTOWY POLONIA

New home ground opens on March 26

The opening of Polonia's new home ground, Chopin Park, on Sunday, March 26, 1978 in the competition game against North Sydney Inter, should herald the revival of the Club's fortunes.

For, in the past, due to lack of financial support, Polonia has rarely occupied a place in the first division competition and, for most of its existence, has finished in the middle of the second division.

The Club's management committee has tried to remedy this financial plight in 1978, by selling advertising around the new home ground at Chopin Park.

It was extremely successful in this and already billboards feature LOT Polish Airlines G. & M. Kordek and Company (screen manufacturers), White Eagle Smash Repairs, Burns Philp & Co, Iskra Electrics, Delta Overseas Travel and Tooheys, with many more on the way.

However, to compete in the first division and even more so, in the Phillips League, even more finance would have to be obtained.

With this in mind, the Polish Sports, Recreation and Social Centre Ltd, of which the Polonia Soccer Club is a branch, have geared their plans to commence building a licensed club at the sports complex at Lot 4, Bungalow Rd, Plumpton about June this year.

To carry out this plan, about $250,000 is needed for the Club to become operational.

With this in mind, the Directors of the PSRS Centre Ltd are trying to obtain loan funds from members and supporters.

People interested in investing their money with the PSRS Centre Ltd should contact its secretary on 798-8576 or write to the company at Lot 4, Bungalow Rd, Plumpton for application forms.

The Management Committee of the Polonia Soccer Club has set its plans on the assumption that the supporters will back this plan to commence building the licensed club in June, and have it operational towards the beginning of 1979.

Therefore the Club is doing everything it possibly can to gain promotion to the Rothmans League in 1978.

All the young players have been signed up. Three professionals from Poland were acquired by the end of last year.

And a top class striker is expected to join the Club from Poland at any time.

If the Polonia Soccer Club will be successful in its bid for promotion this year, the committee is already working on contingency plans to enable the Club to consolidate a position in the Rothmans League without the fear of relegation, in 1979.

By the end of that year, it is hoped that the proposed licensed club would be fully operational and finance an all-out bid to win the Rothmans League in 1980.

This would be important, because promotion to the Phillips League would commence in that year.

And, if supporters respond to the Club's call for loans now, there is no reason why, from 1981 onwards the Club should not be able to compete with the more established and financially secure Phillips League Clubs.

The committee has also started a program of diversification.

It has opened up a ladies' soccer team and at least one junior team to play in the NSW Soccer Federation Competition.

The purpose of this is to entrench the Club in the Blacktown area and broaden the base of support for the proposed licensed club.

Then, once the Club becomes fully operational, these foundations will be built upon with further amateur teams being opened up as well as the Club venturing into other sports.

This further shall increase the activities and multiply the growth of the licensed company and the various sporting sections which, by that time, will be under its control.

LITTLE JOE MADE IT ON HIS RETURN

Perhaps the best known of all the past players to have played for the Polonia Soccer Club is Joe Galeczka.

It could be argued that he was the best player ever to play for any club in Australia, for, on his return to Poland in 1962, and still in his mid-twenties, he was an automatic selection for Polish national teams, playing against such opponents as England, France, Ireland and many other top countries.

Only a tiny player, "Little Joe", as he was affectionately known by the Sydney press, carved himself a niche in Australian soccer for his non-stop performances for his club and his brilliant artistry with the ball.

Many a time, when his team mates were out of form, or the team was short because of injuries (at that time no replacements were allowed under the rules) it was left to "Little Joe" to get those precious draws or the odd goal wins.

At other times, when all the cogs were working, he was even more impressive in the big wins of the club.

But question any of the fans during those golden years of Sydney soccer, and none can remember any bad game that was actually played by this little player with the big heart.

In those years, Australia were under expulsion from FIFA, and the highest achievement a player could receive was to represent his State.

And "Little Joe" Galeczka won many NSW representative honors of the time, taking his place with the other greats of yesterday such as Leo Baumgartner, Herbert Ninaus, Karl Jaros and another Polonia player, Stan Szklarek.

After he had finished his playing days in Poland, he took up coaching with only the second club with which he has been involved, the Polish first division Zaglebie Sosnowiec.

In the last four years he has been their chief coach and has always led his team, in his new position, near the top of Polish first division.

In their pre-occupation with British style soccer, Australian soccer officials in searching for a new national coach, could do much worse than to try and entice this little wizard "back home".

POLISH AIRLINE TO LIFT HOPES

LOT manager P. Mroz.

The Polonia Soccer Club has successfully obtained a substantial sponsorship from LOT Polish Airlines for the 1978 soccer season.

Although the LOT Polish Airlines is well known throughout Europe, it is only since 1973 that they commenced inter-continental operations with flights to New York.

The following year this was extended to Montreal.

And on September 14, 1977 the company's inaugural flight to Asia was made on the route Warsaw-Baghdad-Dubai-Bombay-Bangkok.

Towards the end of 1977, LOT Polish Airlines opened a bureau in 175 Pitt St., Sydney, 232-1488, where people interested in travelling by an airline giving top class service and comfort may get further information.

At the same time, the Managing Director of LOT for Australia and New Zealand, Mr Piotr Mroz and the N.S.W. Regional Director, Mr Andrzej Namyslowski are also studying the possibilities of extending their Asian route to Australia.

By sponsoring the Polonia Soccer Club in Sydney, LOT Polish Airlines expects that word of its operations in Asia and its information bureau in Sydney will spread throughout the Polish community in Australia.

In turn, the Club has received a substantial amount of money which will mainly be used to improve the working capital of the Club, bring out reinforcements in the playing staff from Poland and also purchase several sets of badly needed playing strips, bearing LOT Polish Airlines advertising.

The Polonia Soccer Club is confident that this year's sponsorship by this prestigious international airline company is just the beginning of a long and happy relationship which should be of mutual benefit both to the Club and to LOT Polish Airlines.

Club wants to get Back to NSW elite

After nine seasons of consolidation in the second division, the committee of Polonia have, during the off season, formulated plans which should enable the club to win promotion to the Rothmans League in 1978.

These plans were based on a realistic assessment of the resources available to the club in 1978.

If they are realised, there is no reason why the club should in future not be able to progress.

In previous years, the Polonia first grade team was mainly composed of imported Polish professional players.

However, with the quantity of these being cut off in the last decade or so, because of the demand for Polish players in other European countries since the successes of the Polish national team, the club was forced to review its policy of importing such players.

Thus, in 1975, the club commissioned Felix Molski (then Tasman Cup Coach of Chester Hill High School), who possessed a wealth of knowledge about the form of many of Sydney's top class young players.

His instructions were to scout for some of the best young players in Sydney in order that they form, within three years, the nucleus of a top first grade team of first division standard.

As a first step in carrying out his instructions, Felix Molski brought to his side another coach expert in the requirements of young players, in Berto Luchetti (then junior coach of Marconi).

As a result, most of the players in the first grade squad for 1978, came through the third grade of 1975 and second grade of 1976.

In 1977, Felix Molski, stuck to his convictions that these players have the class to make top grade, and fearlessly promoted them to the first grade.

Although nervous at first and despite their inexperience, the club still managed to finish in seventh place.

However, the club's faith in local youth has paid off remarkably.

The experience gained in first grade last year has enabled them to mature remarkably quickly.

In pre-season trial matches, the club now finds that their ball skills and style of play complement that shown by the three Polish players who arrived late last year.

If trial matches are any guide, to what supporters can expect the team to play in the competition proper, then they shall be pleasantly surprised.

For the first time in many years, they shall have a team to be proud of, and not one consisting of only individuals each playing a different game.

They should see the team playing a short-passing, ball-playing game moulded on the Continental style.

This has always proved to be more successful and more pleasing to watch than the long passing, rugged game that seems to be in favour by most other teams in the second division.

Because of this, and because the club now has the players to play such a style of football, supporters should feel very confident of a successful season.

Imbued with the success of its junior experiment, the club is now building further on these solid foundations.

It has appointed Tommy Conditis (on the retirement of Felix Molski last year) as club coach and Tony Komoder as the first grade coach.

Tony Komoder needs no introduction to Polonia fans, for he had first division experience in Poland with Zagłębie Sosnowiec (Joe Galeczka's club) and was a stalwart in Polonia teams from 1964 to 1974.

Tommy Conditis is also a very experienced coach and his appointment is at the same level as that of Komoder.

However, his duties will involve planning the progress of all the players in all teams of the club and his successes will be gauged over the long term, rather than the immediate performances of the teams.

Polonia started in hostel room

The Polonia Soccer Club was officially formed and named on September 24, 1950, having played the year before under the sponsorship of a hostel in Moorebank, and winning their group of the local soccer com

Between the years of 1951 and 1957 the club played in the Southern League, Division B with varying success.

In 1958 the club joined the N.S.W. Federation of Soccer Clubs playing in their second division, and in 1960 brought out the first four professional soccer players from Poland.

These were Joe Galeczka, Stan Sklarek, George Czubala and Wilhelm Pilot.

In that year the club finished in second place to Pan Hellenic, but beat the latter in the Grand Final.

During 1961, Polonia amalgamated with the North Side Soccer Club and as a result took part in that year's first division competition, under the name of Polonia North Side. The newly formed Club finished fifth in that year.

After losing two of their best players in Joe Galeczka (to Poland and later on to win full international honours for his country) and Stan Sklarek (to Polonia-Melbourne and subsequently to gain selection in the Victorian State Team), the club was relegated to the second division in 1962.

The Club was further weakened in 1963, losing such fine players as Adrian Ringland (to South Coast United), Johnny Wong (to APIA) and the retirement of the Varglien brothers, but still managed to finish in second place after the late arrival of a further four Polish reinforcements — Zdzislaw Nowacki, Bruno Hajduk, Kaz Witczak and Henryk Cebula.

It was these players who helped the Club win the 1963 Grand Final against the second division premiers, Corinthians.

Three other Polish professionals, Jerry Drewniak, Tony Komoder and the blonde international from Gornik, Ginter Gawlik joined the Club in 1964 with the result that Polonia had no trouble taking out the second division double — the premiership and championship.

Promoted in 1965, the Club had a lopsided team, in that it had a top class defence, but mediocre players in attack and as a result were placed in last position for most of 1965.

However, through the late arrival of another four players from Poland — Eugene Dzialach, Frank Filok, Andre Gaik and the irrepressible striker Richard Krawiarz together with the Australian international, Mike Jurecki from Melbourne, — the fortunes of Polonia improved, but not sufficiently to avoid last place — together with Pan Hellenic.

This necessitated a play-off with that club and after two drawn games, a third game was required to resolve the question of relegation.

That game, universally acknowledged as one of the classics ever put up by two Australian clubs, saw Polonia go down 5-4 through a series of very controversial decisions by the referee.

1966 heralded the departure of the great Ginter Gawlik as well as Hajduk and Witczak.

But further strengthened by another good forward in Bogdan Adamczyk from Poland and the Australian international goalkeeper Bill Henderson from Auburn, the Club again easily won that year's second division double — and promotion.

With the addition of Kaz Kulak to the team from Poland and the purchase of Don Brown from Canterbury Polonia finished 1967 in eighth position in the first division.

Further reinforcements from Poland were acquired in 1968 (Richard Winiarski and Richard Skiba as well as Stan Minol) to place the Club equal fifth.

However, in 1969 age was beginning to tell on the Polish brigade and as a result the Club again finished the season last.

Ever since, the Club has occupied a middle of the table position in the second division and even the arrival of such players as Kaz Szmidi, Kaz Starek, Stan Wozniczko, Manfred Urbas and Zygmund Janiak over the years did not help the Club in taking precedence over such clubs as Western Suburbs and Marconi in promotion to the first division.

Stadium ready in '82

The Polonia Soccer Club will play its first game at its new home ground, Chopin Park, Plumpton, on Sunday, March 26, against North Sydney Inter.

The 10-acre property was bought by the Polish Sports, Recreation and Social Centre Limited, of which Polonia is a branch, in September, 1976.

The first stage is the building of a playing field and training ground — and this has been completed.

Stage 2 involves the building of a gymnasium and canteen and this would be ready in about a month.

Stage 3 will be the construction of a licensed club and this will depend on funds being provided by the local community in the form of loans.

The club has applied for a grant from the NSW Government towards floodlighting.

The tentative completion date of the whole project, including a small grandstand as a starter, licensed club and floodlit fields, will be 1982 and the total cost in present value may reach $750,000.

NSW STATE LEAGUE

Some seek solace for poor Cup run

— By Keith Gilmour —

In welcoming this weekend's start to the Rothman's League season, NSW president Karl Rodny said he had no doubt that the Ampol Cup success would continue on.

"It will be a big season for our clubs and sponsors, and we are particularly pleased with the start that new clubs Melita, Monaro and Toongabbie have made.

"Each team will have at least six local players this year. We are not interested in holidaymakers," Rodny said.

Rothmans have extended their sponsorship to cover the Second Division as well.

Melita, on their new home ground of Garside Park which they will share with Granville, face premiers Croatia in the vital match of the round.

Cup winners Sutherland's game against Marrickville Olympic has been deferred due to ground difficulties.

TOONGABBIE v GRANVILLE

Was Toongabbie's 5-0 Ampol Cup loss to Inter Monaro just an unfortunate flash in the pan?

Granville, in any case, will give them a spirited tussle at Gurraveen, but the break since the Ampol Cup preliminaries has given the Demons a chance to lick their wounds and come back with little in the way of injury worries.

Toongabbie coach Mal O'Neill, with Granville last season, well knows the strengths and weaknesses of his opponents.

With Ric Hormazabal, Carlos Ortega and Larry Armytage in form, Toongabbie should be able to take control, although Granville's Billy Fraser is certain to marshal his charges well from midfield.

TOONGABBIE: Donovan, Gerlo, Parkhouse, Millen, Pollard, Benito De Valle, Thomas, Pena, Hormazabal, Ortega, Armytage, Holloway, Hammond, Taylor, Warren.

GRANVILLE: Hoare, Selfridge, Sands, Slater, Barker, Haydec, Milne, Johns, Fraser, Waldon, Lackey, McVeigh, Scamperle, Baron.

Bobby Harris, Granville.

APIA v AUBURN

Auburn's loss of players certainly throws the balance in APIA's favor for the Lambert Park clash.

Alec McMillan should control APIA's defence in this match against his former club, and if Ken Lindsay has settled in he should be able to help the maroons to dominate the midfield.

Auburn will be looking to Andy Tracey and Derek Sidey for goals, along with recent acquisition Mick Stephenson, formerly with Arncliffe and Guildford.

APIA: McQuire, McGinn, McMillan, Jackson, Bakaric, Porter, Merrigan, Lindsay, Fryer, Doyle, Butler, Griffiths, Ruiz, O'Rourke, Wilson.

AUBURN: Griffin, J. Gibson, McGlynn, Vidaic, Bertram, Dobson, Sidey, Bielby, Stephenson, McGrath, Tracey, Fairclough, Williams, Hill.

Gary Fairclough, Auburn.

AVALA v YUGAL

After a big upset in which manager Steve Dacevski and coach Slavko Viskovic were moved out, Yugal settled on the previously successful Eric Schwarz to handle the job.

It is too early to expect him to have welded Yugal's somewhat untidy bunch of talent into a workmanlike unit, so Avala look the likely winners in a hard fought game.

Apart from an outstanding defence and a capable midfield, they have a host of potential scorers — Jim Magill, John Beater, Tom Morrow, Pat Deller and Alan Griffiths.

AVALA: Ahrens, Doran, S. Deller, Gray, Barton, Milovanovic, Patterson, Morrow, Deller, Beater, Magill, Griffiths, Nedic, Nedic.

YUGAL: Mandrides, Nitya, Piper, Novakovic, Radovac, Stamenkovic, Travini, Karenfilovski, Mihajlovic, Rodas, Lupeski, Nanneriello, Cuk.

George Butler, Melita.

MELITA v CROATIA

Can Melita Eagles repeat their Cup win against Croatia?

My feeling is that they may not quite have the players to duplicate that success, even allowing that Croatia are in somewhat of a difficult situation.

Their three latest imports must be added to an already big playing staff, and coach Luke Fabrijanic has to sort out a combination that is a blend of their present skills and a necessary element of toughness.

With World Cup striker Atti Abonyi and Maurice Sullivan consistently amongst the goals, Croatia have players who have no parallel in the Melita team — but watch out for a great battle.

MELITA: Bracklow, Ververis, McPherson, Yamine, Mikas, G. Butler, Brizuela, Farrugia, R. Smith, McAusland, McGovern, Drossos, Parker, Marsden.

CROATIA: Watson, R. Russell, Mullen, Basic, G. Smith, Stone, McDonald, Abonyi, Kovacic, Sullivan, Coleman, Leyden, Hanratty, J. Russell.

Croatia's Ian Stone.

MONARO v MANLY

Ampol Cup semi-finalists Monaro have home ground advantage at last, and this is the first State League game ever to be played at Queanbeyan's Marco Polo ground.

Monaro so far have run hot and cold, possibly due to the changing moods of Sebastian Giampaoli, a highly talented striker on his day.

Manly started as cold as their surf in winter, but the side came good to defeat APIA.

Young newcomers Hill and Kay showed out well, and they are the types of players that will put Manly on the map as the fruits of their scientifically-based coaching scheme are realised.

MONARO: Pelec, Prgometja, O'Maye, De Paoli, Santolin, Crawford, Lawler, Forwood, M. Valeri, Giampaoli, W. Valeri, Borwick, Cumming, Morsello, Antropolides.

MANLY: Cassettari, Harpur, Dick, Stocks, Geoghegan, Roozendaal, Toland, Purac, Delaney, Nawalu, Doyle, Hill, Kay.

Monaro's Giampaoli.

BANKSTOWN v ARNCLIFFE

Ross Warren's Arncliffe have the advantage of more match play against a Bankstown which have missed the competitive fixtures of the Ampol Cup.

In addition Bankstown have had to build a number of new players into the team — a big job for new coach Alec Kent.

Their losses have been Alan Sheldrick, John Beater, George Butler and Norm Penman, whilst Keith Edmonds has now joined Central Coast.

They are battling to regain the services of Eric Williams, and John Hargreaves may find it difficult to play as he has just taken on a new university course, all of which points to a win for the Scots.

One of the young heroes of Sutherland hails his team's win in Sunday's Ampol Cup final.

BANKSTOWN: Greedy, Thompson, Morrison, Mermolego, Lembyk, Peck, C. Rootsey, Benavente, Kent, Daley, Harvey, Ingle, Brooks.

ARNCLIFFE: Cuneo, D. Butler, Walsh, Smart, Warner, Harrington, O'Meara, Armstrong, Gilmour, Baker, Cochran, Cirillo, Muscovits, Small.

Ampol Cup Final

Sutherland came with late burst

— By Charles Spiteri —

Sutherland Shire scored their first major soccer success by winning the 1978 Ampol Cup last Sunday defeating Melita Eagles 2-0 at Garside Park.

After a shaky start, Sutherland lifted their game tremendously in the second half to score well deserved victory over the "in-form" team of the Ampol Cup.

It took six years for Sutherland to make their mark in first division but they did it in style against top opposition in a thrilling and entertaining match.

Melita Eagles, humbled into defeat in front of their own supporters, were by no means disgraced as they matched their conquerors in every department, but lapsed badly in the second half to give Sutherland the advantage.

For Johnny Watkiss who gallantly led his team to his great victory, it will probably be the last game of his forced "come-back" — he only took the field to offset the long list of injuries to his top players.

Watkiss threw everything at Melita; he even collected a yellow card from Tony Boskovic following an over zealous tackle on George Butler during the game.

Favorites to win this match, Melita Eagles certainly gave Sutherland a good run for their victory.

In the first half, Melita put it together with more cohesion and finesse and in the 16th minute Watkiss came to the rescue when he cleared off the line with Malcolm Haynes well and truly beaten.

For the rest of the first half, it was "champagne" football with the ball running from end to end with Melita looking the sharper and more dangerous of the two teams.

But once the halftime break was over, Sutherland came back with a barnstorming spell which had the Eagles in quite a lot of trouble.

In a torrid ten-minute period, Uwe Bracklow made two brilliant saves from shots by Peter Beggs and Craig Hall and in between Richard Hammer hit the crossbar.

Holding the upperhand, Sutherland kept coming forward and the inevitable break came when Jim Basterfield split the defence with a good run down the middle, passing to Beggs who rounded a defender and slammed the ball out of Bracklow's reach in the low bottom left corner.

This goal sunk the Eagles into making more mistakes and were lucky not to get further behind.

However, eight minutes later, the Melita defence "gave away" another goal. This time all stopped appealing for "offside" while Richard Hammer raced through slipping the ball to Craig Hall who scored with a 12-metre scorcher.

Sutherland: Haynes 4, Hesford 4, Basterfield 4 (Wykes: 85m), Schumann 3, Dalforno 4, Watkiss 5, Beggs 4, Smith 3, Hall 4, Lavin 3, Hammer 4.

Melita Eagles: Bracklow 4, Ververis 4, McPherson 3 (Drossos: 71m), Yamine 3, Mikas 4, Smith 4, Farrugia 4, McAusland 3, Parker 3, Butler 4, Brizuela 3.

Goals: 1-0 Beggs 62m, 2-0 Hall 70m.

Referee: T. Boskovic.

Crowd: 5672.

Arncliffe Scots won the play-off for third place when they beat Monaro 2-0 in the early game at Garside Park.

Faster to the ball, Arncliffe had the measure of the slow moving Monaro throughout the game.

Glen Walsh scored in the first half to give them the lead and newcomer John Muskovits sealed the result halfway through the second half.

Arncliffe: Cuneo 4, Butler 4, Hall 3, Walsh 3 (Small: 33m), Warner 4, Harrington 4, Hinwood 3, Cockram 3, Muskovits 4, Armstrong 3 (Bankhead: HT), Baker 3.

Monaro: Antropolides 3, Prgmelja 3 (Borwick: 56m), Omaye 3, Cumming 3, Crawford 4, Lawler 3, Samplin 3, Gorwood 4, Giampaoli 4, Valeri 3, Morsello 3.

Goals: 1-0 Walsh 18m, 2-0 Muskovits 65m.

Referee: D. Rennie.

Player-coach John Watkiss (left) is chaired off the ground by his overjoyed Sutherland players following the team's win in the Ampol Cup final. Watkiss, undoubtedly one of the greatest personalities in Sydney soccer, has just started his 21st senior season.

CLUB PATROL

Avala's PAUL JANCEK has resumed training following his recovery from a successful leg operation two months ago. Coach Steve Lalic has high hopes for him later this season. Congratulations to Paul and his bride on their recent marriage.

KIM MILOVANOVIC is back with Avala after a season with the Lethbridge Park Rangers club. Avala expect big things from him this year.

Toongabbie Demons' club president BILL PARKHOUSE leaves soon for an 18-month holiday to Europe. He will be spending most of his time in the UK which will be his first stopping point, and he will make an official visit to Lancaster Gate, the headquarters of the English FA.

Marrickville Olympic are still trying to get their South American striker OSCAR RAMIREZ back from Argentina. Oscar flew home some weeks ago when he received news that his son had taken ill. Now he wants to return with his whole family and both they and the club are waiting for clearance from the Immigration Department.

APIA held a "meet-the-players" night last Wednesday at their club so that members and fans could mingle with the players who hopefully will try and recapture some of the lost glory of APIA.

Two players at Toongabbie who celebrated birthdays last week are BOB OLDHAM who turned 28 on the 11th, and PAUL THOMAS who turned 22 on the 16th. Bob especially has been the surprise packet this year at the Demons, playing with great assuredness as centre back.

Marrickville Olympic's GREG BROWN is out of hospital after a serious operation a few weeks ago. Greg is recovering well but won't be fit enough to play for many months yet. As a gesture of goodwill the supporters of the club gave Greg a $650 gift when he visited the club last week. Club officials are hoping that once he regains some of his strength he will be able to take over the third grade side as a means of keeping in contact with the club and also as a way of gradually getting back to peak fitness.

Inter Monaro's FLAVIO de Paoli is making a great recovery from a dislocated shoulder injury he received a few weeks ago. It is expected that he may make a return to the Monaro reserves this week to see how his shoulder stands up to match play.

Inter Monaro could well be without their first choice goalkeeper, LAURIE PALEC, this weekend. Laurie has received several knocks over the past few weeks, and his injury problems came to a head when he pulled a thigh muscle in the game against Sutherland. His replacement will be 16-year-old NICK ANTONOPOULOS.

Former Bankstown forward JOHN BEATER is expected to be back in the Avala side against Yugal this week after recovering from an injured foot sustained in the Ampol Cup match against Sutherland.

Polonia are making an all-out effort to regain their lost first division status and are brightening up the image of the club. One of the more patriotic moves to be applauded is the naming of the home field as "Chopin Park", after the great Polish composer. This is similar in style to Inter Monaro who play at "Marco Polo Oval". This naming of grounds after national identities led someone to suggest that St. George BSC should re-name Barton Park "Paprika Park".

Every picture tells a story! Announced details of the State Government Insurance scheme for similar cover show the following premiums per annum: Soccer $7, Rules $14, Rugby codes $201.

Yugal have two players on the injured list at present. Striker BILL LUPEVSKI injured his knee, while the Fijian defender NITI NITYA has a bruised hip.

One youngster Auburn are hopeful of developing is DAVID PETERS, an 18-year-old fullback who has impressed coach JOE MARTIN and club officials in the Ampol Cup and in friendlies. Davis is a product of the Auburn third grade.

Toongabbie are at present trialling three former Pan Hellenic players in the hope that one of them may be able to fill the gap in attack. JIMMY IZATT (pictured), HECTOR MARTINEZ and GARY MANUEL were all with Hellenic before the name changed to Olympic.

There is a strong movement in the Yugal club to have the playing colours changed to all white. Not only is it a more elegant strip but also the players have a superstition that playing in white is luckier!

It seems that there is a great drought of strikers in Sydney, for nearly every club mentions that they are always on the lookout for young hopefuls. MARRICKVILLE OLYMPIC is such a club and invites any strikers to their training sessions at Arlington Oval on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

After much indecision over his future ALAN PIGGOTT finally left Arncliffe Scots and signed for Auburn. At one stage it was thought Alan may remain with the Scots, but after trialling with Auburn for a few weeks he was signed up by the green and golds.

Another APIA player who deserves congratulations is their English born winger JOHNNY O'Rourke who celebrated his 21st birthday last Sunday.

Inter Monaro are hoping to be able to bring out a match program for all their home matches this year. So far the response from the Queanbeyan business community has been good, and a program similar in nature to the excellent one produced by Canberra City is hoped for.

Auburn are a little more than disappointed at the decision of their fullback RON CORNETT to leave the club. Ron is on transfer after a dispute with the club and is not even training with the team. Ron was one of the last players left from the 1975 team, and had been with the club almost seven years even though he is still only 23.

Battle looming in sec. division

— By Charles Spiteri —

Umbro Cup finalists Ku-ring-gai and Revesby Workers will be the main challengers for the second division championship and promotion.

Ku-ring-gai coach Mick Jones said this week: "We certainly are after promotion and with the young talent available in the district we stand a good chance."

Ku-ring-gai beat Revesby Workers 4-2 in the Umbro Cup Final at Francis Park last Sunday.

However, Revesby have strengthened their side considerably this season but have not been able to field a full team so far because of players' commitments to cricket.

There could also be a stronger effort from Polonia this year with their imported players now fully acclimatised.

Gladesville Hornsby, which have struggled to keep their position in second division, may have a better season in 1978.

They have signed Tommy Steen and Bill Reilly which should give them more punch up front and strength in midfield.

The ANZ Bank won the Summer Banks competition last week, pipping the CBA Bank on goal difference after they both finished level on points. Other banks taking part were the Commonwealth on 10 points, behind the leaders on 11, Reserve Bank 8, National 6, CBC 6 and Rural 4. The ANZ Bank won with a goal difference of seven (13-6) to the CBA's six (11-5). Matches were played throughout the summer on Wednesday and Thursday nights at Garside Park.

Sutherland will pay tribute to one of soccer's great sponsors with an AMPOL CABARET on March 18 at their clubhouse. Ampol have agreed to donate their name but Liza Minnelli won't be there.

However, they got a setback last week when Graham MacKinnon decided to hang-up his boots and took a position to coach the APIA third grade instead.

Greg Byles, Revesby

Newcomers Blacktown and University have shown plenty of promise so far in the pre-season Umbro Cup and should do well in the competition.

Former Toongabbie coach Louis Solis has taken up coaching Guildford Wanderers but it is believed he had to start right from scratch which was quite evident in Guildford's early matches.

NSW Federation president KARL RODNY will go to Queanbeyan for Inter Monaro's first home game, which is against Manly-Warringah. He also told Soccer World that he would welcome a meeting with the five Sydney Phillips League clubs to discuss their affiliation with NSW.

RADIO 2UE will shortly announce details of their preview and score service for Sydney's PSL matches.

ALAN GIBSON and STEVE HOSZOWSKI are believed to be taking legal advice as to the strength of their arrangements with the Auburn Club.

WORLD NEWS

France have a "new" international prospect in Marc Berdoli. Last year, with the West German Saarbrücken, the dangerous French goal-getter was almost entirely out of touch. Now with his current club, Olympique Marseille, he is again freely scoring goals and manager Hidalgo added him to the World Cup squad.

The injury of Dutch star Johan Neeskens is healing well and he expects to resume playing this week for Barcelona against Aston Villa.

The West German Kaiserslautern will open their rebuilt stadium in August. The capacity was increased from 30,000 to 37,000 — at a cost of $2.5m.

Schalke have given a new contract to their star international winger Rudiger Abramczik — $120,000 a year.

Servette of Geneva, which toured China recently, has invited China's national team for a trip to Switzerland.

Bayern Munchen president Wilhelm Neudecker has promised a special bonus of $12,000 if they finish in the first six and thus gain entry into next year's UEFA Cup.

Stoke City have dismissed their manager George Eastham and have replaced him with Alan Durban, formerly with Shrewsbury. Eastham's demise was caused by their inglorious Cup defeat against the amateurs Blyth Spartans.

Poland warned

Poland has a ready-made "spy" in Mexico in former Gornik Zabrze goalkeeper Jan Gomola who, when with the Mexican club Atletico Espanol, played under the management of Jose Antonio Roca — the current Mexican national team boss.

Gomola, now 49, warns his countryman Jacek Gmoch, manager of Poland:

"Roca knows his business inside out and is a brilliant strategist who has introduced many European elements in Mexican soccer. Poland (who is in the same World Cup group) must beware of this team, which is technically and tactically brilliantly prepared."

Mexico's only weakness, according to Gomola: "They can't play in rain and on wet surfaces."

THE AMERICAS

Billy Bremner, 34, is all set to join Los Angeles Aztecs in the USA.

At his peak, Bremner won just about every honor with Leeds United and captained the Scotland team.

Another Scot, Eddie McCredie, the former Chelsea star and manager, is also in the USA.

McCredie has replaced Malcolm Allison as manager of the Memphis Rogues who was sacked for failing to sign any top European players.

They sure shoot from the hip in good ole' USA...

On the other hand, in the bewitching field of razzamatazz, there's no business like show business, made in USA.

These all-American beauties, performing before a match of the Tampa Bay Rowdies (lucky, lucky Alston) give you an idea what the Americans call pre-game entertainment.

The race for the Hungarian title has narrowed down to three contenders: Honved, MTK and Ujpest, all from Budapest with another team from the capital, Vasas — the reigning champions — gradually dropping out of the picture.

That amazing Spanish star Pirri is a man of many talents. On top of being an international, he is also studying medicine — and has just opened a TV store where he offers 30% discount to all Real Madrid members.

Cosmos of New Jersey have sold their Peruvian midfielder Ramon Mifflin to the Los Angeles Aztecs.

• A huge uproar broke out in Hamburg where new manager, Guenther Netzer had introduced new disciplinary measures. For a start, he decided to retain all the bonuses of the players pending the team finishing in the first six and thus ensuring a run in the UEFA Cup. Players are now consulting their lawyers about the legality of this arbitrary action.

CRUYFF'S "NO" TO $5m.

Yes, it's that man Cruyff again who has taken over from Pele the world's headline hogging.

The American Cosmos of New Jersey has reportedly offered Cruyff a $5m contract which the Dutchman promptly turned down.

He said, however, that for a "smaller" figure (probably about $4m?) he was prepared to play in special exhibition matches for Cosmos over the next two years, without being involved in the US domestic league.

Meanwhile, back in Spain, Cruyff's club CF Barcelona is suing the Spanish Federation for damages.

Last season Cruyff was suspended for three matches and Barcelona claims that this — an "unreasonable act" — cost them the title.

Cruyff's crime was to chip the referee in his halting Spanish.

Our picture shows Cruyff in happier times, with ex-Holland manager Michael Rinus, displaying the team's 1974 mascot.
